A FAVORABLE DAY EXPECTED

EXECUTIVE MANSION Aug 30—The president enjoyed another good night s rest and it is thought starts out on what bids fair to be another good day The stomach continues to perform its work satisfactorily, and the parotid swelling is progressing favorably His pulse, temperature and respiration as compared with yesterday morning shows a slight increase in frequency of pulse thought to be due to an accumulation of pus in another portion of the glandular swelling, which was observed this morning by Dr Bliss, who made still another incision and removed the cheesy pus On the continuance of the favorable symptoms another day of progress is predicted

The Afternoon Dispatches

NOON OFFICIAL BULLETIN

EXECUTIVE MANSION, August 29, 1 30 p m —At the morning dressing another small incision was made in the lower part of the swelling on the right side of the president's face which was followed by a free discharge of healthy looking pus A similar discharge took place through the openings The swelling is perceptibly smaller and looks better The wound remains in an unchanged condition There has been little rise of temperature since morning, but the pulse is more frequent In other respects the condition is about the same Pulse, 116 temperature, 98.9, respiration, 18

HAS WELD HIS OWN

EXECUTIVE MANSION, August 30, 2 p m — In reply to questions Colonel Rockwell said this afternoon that the president s condition to-day has been about as it was yesterday. He has fully held his own but it has not gained perceptibly in strength No especial importance is attached to the high pulse shown by the noon bulletin It is attributed principally to irritation caused by the cutting of the parotid swelling this morning "As long," Colonel Rockwell said, "as the gland continues to be a source of almost constant disturbance we must expect these fluctuations of pulse. Since the noon bulletin, however, the president's pulse has gone down to 110 We think that he is doing well"

BLAINE'S DISPATCH TO LOWELL

WASHINGTON, August 30 — The following was sent this afternoon

To Minister Lowell, London

The president's condition is not materially changed since my last dispatch Another incision was made this morning in the parotid gland with very satisfactory results Pus flows freely and the swelling grows less The pulse at this hour, 2 p m, is lower than during the forenoon of yesterday, but on both days it is higher than his other good symptoms would seem to warrant It is now 110. At noon it was 118

(Signed,) BLAINE, Secretary

ANOTHER "ERRATIC"

NEW YORK, August 30 Washington specials say. The police have just arrested another "erratic" at the White House He was a colored man manifestly insane He was bent upon the mission of killing every man who was not a Garfield man, and he had a large tin can into which he proposed to place their heads

TRANSFERRED GARFIELD

LONDON, August 30 —At the London Cathedral noon meeting yesterday a special prayer was made for President Garfield

CAPTAIN HENRY'S DISPATCH

CHICAGO, August 30 — A Washington special says Captain Henry telegraphs as follows

EXECUTIVE MANSION, Aug 30, 9 p m To friends in Ohio

The improved symptoms I spoke of last night at this hour continued through the night and day The swelling in the right side of the face forward and below the ear has discharged quite freely during the day and especially about sunset. The doctors appear to feel confident that they are nearly through with that trouble. Like it had, for days, caused intense pain to the already exhausted patient At times he could not repress a moan with each breath The fevered vitiated blood going past into the head caused the brain to wander at times until the iron will could regain its faculties So the struggle continued Several days the whole strength of the will power was exhausted to keep reason enthroned for a little time and still the brain worked on It was a few days and long weary nights of pain, a terrible fight, with fearful odds against the

PERILS OF WOUNDED MEN

His vitality, preserved through a life of correct habits, came to his relief and General Garfield won as he had in a hundred conflicts His mind is now bright and clear The ugly sore near the ear has spent its force This morning about 10 o clock the president awoke and made some effort to clear his throat from the mucous that had accumulated from the swollen gland Dr Boynton, who is with him almost constantly, night and day, assisted him in the effort He president remarked "Ah Silas, how many stations must we stop at before we get through?" He referred to the parotid swelling is on the road to recovery I saw Dr Bliss a few moments ago Said I Doctor I am flooded with telegrams and letters asking about the exact condition of the president what shall I say to-night?"

Said he, "You can say the president is on a higher plane toward recovery The president did splendidly to-day. The stomach worked well, the swelling is discharging freely and the general symptoms have improved The doctor rounded off with an emphatic and confident nod of the head "He is going to get well" have not been in the sick room although they would like very much to see their father They think they will go and see him in the morning I mention this fact to remind the reader that amid all the hopeful and rosy reports the president is still weak and feeble and that any little accident or incident would end any chances of recovery Careful nourishing is required from this on more than surgical science The doctors and nurses say the president is been more cheerful to-day than yesterday I saw Mrs Garfield to-day just as she was completing a letter to

THE CHILDREN

THE PRESIDENT'S MOTHER

She wore the same cheery look of sunshine, but is not as enthusiastic as some of the papers have stated about the favorable symptoms and improvement of the president She is thoughtful, watchful and cheerful but not enthusiastic. She asked me yesterday if the president's old regiment would hold its reunion this year and where I replied at Galion, Ohio on the 1st instant She seemed pleased, and said the president did not like to have such things put off on his account

To sum up I think the points of great danger are now nearly past Time.

THE PRESIDENT IS FEEBLE

with a fearful wound not yet healed, almost through his body, an ugly painful carbuncle or sore on the side of his face, his strength almost gone in his long desperate struggle for life, yet he will live. Why should he not? The doctors say he will, the nurses think he will In less than forty-eight hours from now, sixty long days and nights have been spent in this battle for life For eight weary weeks the nation has stood so near the verge that the whispers of God were heard by the children of men He will hear their prayers."

NO NOTICEABLE CHANGE

EXECUTIVE MANSION, August 30, 4 p m —There has been no noticeable change in the president's condition, except that the pulse has fallen to 108 Symptoms generally continue about the same as yesterday

The Evening Dispatches.

EVENING OFFICIAL BULLETIN

EXECUTIVE MANSION, August 30, 6 30 p m. —The president has passed comfortably through the day. He has taken the usual amount of nourishment by mouth with stimulating enemata at periods The rise of temperature this afternoon is a degree less than yesterday at the same time and the pulse is less frequent than at noon to-day The parotid gland swelling has been discharging more freely and is rapidly tending to diminish in size. Pulse 109, temperature 99 respiration 18

ALL THAT IS EXPECTED

WASHINGTON, August 30 —Dr. Boynton says that while there has been no material gain of strength there has been a slight improvement Certainly there has been a marked improvement since the recent crisis, and he now takes food with as much relish as at any time during his illness No marked change is expected at once All we can reasonably expect is for the patient to hold his own a few days If he makes even a slight improvement it will be perfectly satisfactory. The doctor said he had not noticed any symptoms of another crisis The prospects of final recovery are very fair, but in a case of this kind no one can say positively the patient will recover Therefore he could not make any prediction on the point

THE PRESIDENT'S CHARACTER

The Rev E D Bower, pastor of the Vermont Avenue Christian church, of this city, has writ en a letter concerning the president as a character as a Christian man, in which he says, "He never hesitated when it was no sacrifice to his faith He has lectured publicly on 'The Christian Church' within two years and on 'Influences of Christian Religion' and has for six years been a devout and constant worshipper and communicant Taking into account the temptations attendant upon such a career the general loveliness of Washington's life and political life especially, the marked and faithfulness of Christian men when they attain such prominence in official position and the extreme poverty and obscurity of his brethren in Washington together with their poor house of worship I esteem as unusual the Christian man faithful where nine out of ten would have failed

THE DOCTORS MOVEMENTS

Hamilton arrived to-night Agnew expects to leave for Philadelphia to-morrow morning

TO-DAY'S BULLETINS

WASHINGTON, August 30 —If there is any change to-day it is for the better but it is small and he is just holding his own He is not expected to gain much for some days The discharge of the gland has relieved him Pulse at 10 30 is about 112 last night and the higher pulse to-day was merely temporary has not shifted much to-day Many think the change in its position caused the present strong rally It is not impossible that it may pass off there in the night The nearest approach to solid food he takes is milk toast and chicken broth Solid food will not be given for some time There is no danger of the gland sloughing off

Many offers to cure the president by magnetism and otherwise are received and rejected with thanks Fortunately the swelling on the face though painful is diminishing.

COLORADO COLLEGE

Personal Notes and Other Items of Interest

The appointment of Prof Alfred W Bacon of New Haven to give instruction to the preparatory classes in the college and in commercial school studies—was made last spring, upon the urgent request of well known citizens who have been deprived the advantages of a first-class private school to train pupils for the academic and collegiate classes. This action of the trustees will be of great advantage to the young people of the county who come into town for autumn and winter schooling

Professor Shedlon with his family returned Saturday evening somewhat wilted by their journey through the hot wave in Illinois and Kansas

Professor Lend will occupy his house at the beginning of the term next week for the students' boarding club The outlook for a large number of out-of-town students is very good many of them eager to avail themselves of the opportunity offered to earn their way by work The improvements in the north part of the town will be greatly forwarded the coming year by student labor Some of the ablest men in America earned all the schooling they ever had The offer of the authorities of the college to give work to all students desiring it is likely to meet the wants of many young persons of both sexes in various parts of the state this being the first offer of the sort that has been made in Colorado

Professor Stone will arrive this week and occupy the house built by Rev R T Cross on the east side of University square. Two new houses will probably be erected by persons connected with the college on Cascade ave., near University square at an early date, besides the one to be built by Professor Shedd at no distant day

Professor Shedd will purchase for the college before he returns west a large amount of physical apparatus, and several tons of assay material for the use of students The illustrated lectures in physics chemistry and geology this coming year will prove very attractive Professor Martin the new principal of the academic department, and teacher in political science, has arrived in town He will reside until he can build, upon the southeast corner of Cascade and Willamette

Professor George Y Washburn, who has been a very successful teacher of elocution in Williston and Andover seminaries, is to spend some months in the city the coming autumn and early winter He has consented to give instruction to a college class in elocution before he returns east

LYNCHED AT SILVERTON

The Black Kid Taken from the Silverton Jail and Hung.

The San Juan Herald is issued an extra giving the following account of the lynching of the Black Kid one of the murderers of Marshal Ogsbury The Wingate party arrived back at Silverton last evening about 7 30 o clock, having tracked the fugitive desperadoes to a distance of three miles beyond Ophir, when, they claim, when in sight of and nearly upon the desperadoes, the latter jumped the trail and apparently passed up narrow gulch and escaped from their pursuers Further than this the pursuing party are very reticent and the citizens here hardly know what to think There is a division of opinion, many believing that the desperadoes were overtaken and either hung or shot, and that the capturing party do not yet want to make it known It will be known in due time, however

It was pretty generally believed all through the day yesterday that Judge Lynch would pass judgement on the "kid," who was confined in the calaboose and that he would be placed in a position to do no further harm, or give any more aid to the murderous gang with which he has associated as a stool pigeon and otherwise

We are able to say this morning that the vigilance committee have done their work and the third rascal paid the penalty for his misdeeds at about nine o clock last evening No particulars can be given, it can simply be stated that one of this gang of desperadoes has tasted the availability of hemp, and Marshal Ogsbury s death is partially avenged It Eskridge and Wilkinson are not already captured, or dead, they need expect no mercy at the hands of the people of this town and county as they will be followed to the very death when the murder of our marshal will be fully and amply revenged

The utmost quiet prevails at the present time

The funeral services of the lamented Ogsbury will occur this afternoon at the church when it is expected that the entire camp will pay their last tributes of respect to a dear friend and a former faithful guardian of the order and quiet of the town

Crested Butte.

Capt n DuCourney, agent for the sale of town lots at Crested Butte, reports a big "boom" in real estate at that point. The Denver & Rio Grande road will reach there by or before September 15th, and that will be the terminus of the road for some time to come This fact in connection with the beautiful location of the town, its pure water supply, the abundance of timber in its immediate vicinity, and the known fine quality of its coal, steam getting and coking coal, brick clay, fire clay and building stone on all sides of the town, seem to indicate a promising future for Crested Butte Mr Robinson, superintendent for the Colorado Coal and Iron company's coal banks at Crested Butte, was in Colorado Springs on Monday and states that he is turning out an article superior to the celebrated coke made at Connellsville, Pa

Mr Conacher, private secretary to General Palmer, has just returned from a visit to the Gunnison country, and gives it as his opinion that Crested Butte will have 5 000 population by this time next year

The Denver and Rio Grande railroad camps are within a mile of Crested Butte

Thirty five prisoners were confined in the city jail at Leadville on Saturday night

Charles Stone, the murderer of McCarty at Mears, Colorado narrowly escaped lynching

The citizens of Lake City and Silverton are getting anxious to see what a locomotive looks like

Two Chicago ladies have purchased the Unicorn mine, located on Sheet mountain The price paid was $45,000

The J L Orman Base Ball club of Pueblo is now fully organized and will soon make a fight for the championship of the state

One S G Smith, a stock broker, left Leadville last Friday after selling $5,000 worth of stock belonging to Robinson parties

Altogether $2,500 reward has been offered for the capture of Eskridge and Wilkinson the murderers of Marshal Ogsbury of Silverton

The New Mexico Exposition and Driving Park association will hold its first annual fair at Albuquerque, commencing on October 3d and lasting six days

Col A W Duggan has been elected captain of the Pitkin cavalry of Leadville to fill the place made vacant by the death of the late Captain Carpenter

Placer mining is attracting considerable attention in Ouray county Thousands of dollars are being spent on the San Miguel to get the bars in readiness for the early spring work.

Sitting Bull's photograph has been added to the gallery of notable persons and appears in the Cincinnati Commercial. One is reminded when looking at Sitting Bull's face of an old woman suffering with headache and bemoaning the loss of her teeth.

Gothic and vicinity is fast gaining the reputation of being the very best mining country in the Gunnison. Will the Colorado Springs GAZETTE take a note of this? Gothic Miner.

With pleasure. The GAZETTE was the first paper in the land to recognize the value of the mines of Gothic and Ruby in 1879 and is always glad to publish any favorable news from them.

The Leadville Herald says it has attacked no honored and useful member of the republican party, and then goes on to bitterly attack Hamill. Mr. Hamill was honored by his selection to manage the republican campaign in 1878 and was exceedingly useful in recording to quite recent articles in the Herald there seems to be an inconsistency somewhere.

The Herald Tribune make note of this fact that the GAZETTE usually gives some reason for its criticism of a public leader. The Herald gives no reason for its attack on Hamill. People know that Hamill spoke in Greeley county, take great delight in hand his ticket. But this was completely exploded greatly to the disgust of the Leadville and the Herald is not in the business.

During the last year there were shipped from this port 108,610 tons of steel rails from England. But our mills are still behind those of England. Last year we produced 907,635 tons to England's 825,000. Still the history of steel rail manufacture in our mills is expensive. On the 907,635 tons of steel rails made in this country a protective duty of $25 per ton was added to their selling price, thus making the tax paid by railroads to the steel rail industry of this country $27,010,000. It would seem that the country would be better off if the capital invested in the manufacture of steel rails were diverted into some other industry, unless the industry can be put on a paying basis. Twenty-seven millions of dollars a year is a good deal to spend for the support of a single industry.

General Hilbert, our new minister to Peru, has presented his credentials to Senor Calderon, the provisional president. He said that he was authorized to promote the establishment of peace on fair terms. The terms of peace, however, between Chili and Peru can not seem to be agreed upon. In their great strait the Peruvians have a valuable example in the conduct of France in 1871. The French accepted any terms, submitted to anything that would rid them of the Germans and then went resolutely to work and soon repaired all damages. The Peruvians must do likewise. Their country suffers for the want of peace and they should accept any terms that will give them an opportunity to attend to business. If our minister can arrange any terms of peace he will strengthen the influence of the United States in South America, which is very desirable.

REMOVAL OF THE UTES

We publish in another column the substance of a letter from Judge McMorris regarding the removal of the Utes. Later advices show the Utes are not so peaceably inclined. But as all previous rumors of wars have proven to be baseless, it is fair to assume the present rumors of war will prove unfounded. The Uncompahgre Utes have quietly submitted to forced treaties before this and are likely to do so again. They submit not because they are cowards but because they are intelligent enough to know what a war with the whites means. Probably at the present time they are on their way to their new homes.

We were disposed to indulge in a little sympathetic regret for the sad fate of the Utes but thought it would appear strikingly out of place in a Colorado paper. When what was our surprise to find the following kindly article in the Solid Muldoon, a paper which has represented usually the extreme frontier sentiment on the Indian question but still has frames enough to say a kind word:

The Uncompahgre Utes having been graciously notified that they must leave the valley which for so many years they have called their own, held a farewell powwow at the agency last week. Sapiwanero was deeply affected by the manifest sorrow of his people, and implored the clerks of the government to bring their case before the next session of congress.

Warm tears of old Warrior, whose forefathers had long ago given up the war path, rolled down his furrowed cheeks as he recalled the days when he was a boy and the Utes were a nation.

Tears of compassion were witnessed by the proceedings of the commissioners, who had come to eject the Utes, on account of both old and young when they left their cabins that they must give up the home of their childhood, the valley wherein so many of them have lived and loved, to seek new alliances in a strange and far off country.

Now, laying aside all sentiment, we ask, is it not a disgrace upon the frontier, a human heart that has not a tear for the sympathy for the wrongs and sufferings? Take the Utes home. Think of your being forced from scenes and associations that are dear and near and dear by the ties of long years of civilization. Think of having to leave forever the graves of your sires, which are dotted down in the resurrection morn, and leave them with a knowledge that ere your footprints have grown cold they will be desecrated by the plow share of the pale face, will have forced the little mounds and crumbled the work of desolation.

Fell is the deed.

The editor of the Muldoon is no sentimentalist. No one has advocated the removal of the Utes more forcibly than he has. But he has had the manliness to recognize the Indian side of this treaty and say the kindly words recorded above. The Utes like other people, have traditions which they cherish and love. Their homes are as dear to them as ours to us. But we have ruthlessly trodden their traditions under foot and driven them from their homes. The Manitou springs were long a place of worship for them but are no longer. By treaty after treaty we have been driving them back to the western border and excluding them from most sacred localities and are now about to remove them entirely.

But laying aside any sentiments of sympathy there is this injustice about the removal that the Indians are put on land much inferior to that they leave. This is particularly unfortunate, because it is one of the first trials of the severalty system. The Indians are each given a ranch which is really good for nothing, and are expected to make industrious farmers. They are told to give up hunting and fishing and are not given a chance of earning a living in any other way, or if they do not our humane officers will unanimously denounce them as lazy and incapable of civilization. The Indians have this advantage in going to their new reservation, however, that they will be so poor that the white man will not covet it and they may live on it in peace for a good many years.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH

More than two centuries ago John Milton said: "Let your enemies alone, for if they murder let them murder a crowd, but they kill truths." This was though of a piece with the prejudices which drove the pilgrims to the United States, and if it had not been for intolerance in Europe it would not have been necessary for them to seek religious and political freedom in a new world.

But six centuries make a marvelous difference in progress, and at least in trying to mislead public opinion. The people of that vast empire are not entirely free, yet their servitude gives evidence they have not liberty enough and in that respect it is necessary because the people think more, and are better able to form independent judgments regarding what is right and what is wrong. It is necessary that the people today should be allowed to express freely their thoughts, to criticise and make suggestions for relief from a pressure of taxation which has been regarded and in the demonstrations had been allowed to blister. Alexander might have not been murdered if the crowds been harangued there would not now be so much of "Russian" to overcome. In this country Kearney might have done much harm had he not been allowed to talk. His words killed him. He exposed his fallacies himself, and today he has gone back to his dray cart, and his revolutionary ideas are buried forever.

Germany is troubled just now, and in fact has been for some time, with socialism. In Prussia particularly socialistic ideas prevail and if reports are true, the government proposes to check the spread of the revolutionary ideas by placing the town of Breslau under martial law. This city is the second in importance and size in Prussia and there is undoubtedly an alarming prevalence of socialistic ideas among its inhabitants. It is natural that the government should wish to suppress the utterances which are intended to undermine the civil authority, but to put the city under martial law, to meet argument with force, is a poor policy and a dangerous one.

It is not after all so strange that there should be that socialistic spirit which tends to undermine law prevalent in Germany. Military duty is as irksome as it is universal. The standing army is at once a menace to liberties and a severe drain upon the resources of the people. All this is galling. Socialism and all other European "isms" cannot be suppressed by any laws, nor by any terrors. Europe must sooner or later learn that freedom of speech is the best safeguard. The absence of such orders in America is due to the fact that we allow freedom of expression on all subjects. If Germany is wise martial rule will only be adopted toward any city or province as a last and extreme resort when peace can be preserved by no other means.

Indian Relics in Minnesota

Minneapolis Tribune.

One of the most interesting localities and one of the latest unearthed in this vicinity is the Indian place of execution or torture on Fort Island at the narrows, near the mouth of Minnehaha creek. A few days ago, while Postmaster Gamage and Mr. Phelps were hunting for relics at the above-named place, they discovered among numerous fish spears, hatchets and arrowheads the remains of five skeletons, apparently Indians—the skulls showing a very low order of intellect—one skull of which they were able to get out nearly perfect, and this is now in the possession of Dr. Chapman. The bones were under from one to three feet of earth, and were found in a kind of a sitting posture, with the knees drawn up to the chin, and the skulls were found between the knees. The bones were so much decayed that they could not be taken out whole, but the skulls were taken out whole. The skulls were very large, the forehead very low, the jaws very prominent, and the teeth very much worn down. The skulls were very hard, and the bones were very much decayed. The skulls

NEW YORK.

Condition of the Freighting Market Dull but Steady.

NEW YORK, August 30 — In the freighting market this week opens much the same as during the past two months, very quiet. The fact is, at this season business is concentrated in the hands of a few shippers only, and their line of shipments are force limited from any period of the year. While offerings of outside shippers are very small—interest manifestations as before and there are no signs of weakness notwithstanding the dullness of the market.

The markets except for breadstuffs, are quite active. Wheat is lower. Slow shippers did not do much in fact on continued rains reported in England today. Corn and fairly quiet and steady. The coffee market is active and firmer. Sugars are good in demand and higher on refined and low grades. Hides still but prices maintained. Tallow is quiet but firm and higher, closing at 6½ to 7 cents. Petroleum active and higher. Crude spot in New York, and other sales of 1,000 barrels holders at first, asking and received 85. Wide and very firm and tending upward.

CHICAGO WHEAT

Focus of Heating—The Market Drooping.

CHICAGO, August 30 — An examination was made today of this city and St. Paul elevators and it was found that while there was no wheat actually had some hundred thousand bushels had been taken away from these two elevators and shipped to Buffalo to avoid heating which seemed likely to occur unless the grain was moved and stirred up. The choice had already slipped the grain before it was out of condition rather than have it posted is heated which might create a panic. As it was prices declined heavily today, at one time being seven cents below last night's closing, although today's range was only [illegible] cents. Close pretty strong in the open board. The decline from yesterday's highest to today's lowest was 11½ cents.

R. W. STEELE,
Manager of the Gazette.

ABE ROBERTS,
Proprietor of Manitou Hotel.

Over two hundred names in this morning's advertised letter list.

Mr. Joe Milliner, of the Denver & New Orleans road, was in the city yesterday.

Judge H. P. Bennett, of Leadville, was a guest at the Colorado Springs hotel yesterday.

Deputy Sheriff Dana returned from an official visit to Leadville and Kokomo on Monday night.

The Rev. T. L. Smith, pastor of the M. E. church south, returned last night from a visit to Denver.

Messrs. Hooker & Holmes have placed a handsome sign on the south wall of the Opera House.

The Rev. C. B. Riddick, D. D., of Denver, will preach in the M. E. church, south, this evening at 8 o'clock.

Mr. A. Sutton expects to go east the latter part of the week to purchase a large line of fall and winter goods.

It is estimated that 2,500 people have visited the Cave of the Winds at Manitou since its opening in May last.

To-morrow is the first of September and still the Manitou hotels will be as full as they were on the first of May.

Mr. John Wilson, father of Alderman H. A. Wilson, arrived from the east yesterday on an extended visit to his son.

Why this lull in theatrical entertainments? Nothing booked for dates at the Opera house before the third week in October.

Large quantities of Manitou stone are being shipped to Denver and other cities in the northern part of the state for building purposes.

A large number of freighting teams passed through the city again yesterday on their way to Denver to work on the Denver & New Orleans road.

Mr. H. R. Baker, editor of the Commonwealth, published at Topeka, Kansas, accompanied by his wife, is sojourning for a few days in the city.

The members of the Pharmaceutical association left Manitou yesterday for Denver. To-day they will go to Georgetown, Central and Idaho Springs.

Mr. J. W. Baird has returned from the Gunnison country, and will in a few days resume work in the tunnel of the Eureka mine on Cheyenne mountain.

Messrs. H. S. Clement, Percy Williams and A. N. Wheeler, who, it will be remembered, went west some two months ago, have located in Washington territory.

The Denver Times will move into its new block this week. It is one of the most attractive and substantial buildings in Denver and is built entirely out of Colorado material.

Yesterday afternoon the north bound express was the largest train that has passed through the city in some time. It was composed of eight passenger coaches and three baggage cars.

People residing on the east side of Tejon street are of the opinion that the city council discriminated against them when they placed both drinking fountains on the same side of the street.

A game of ball is talked of between the J. B. Orman Base Ball club of South Pueblo and the Denver and Rio Grande club of this city. The first game will probably be played in Colorado Springs.

Mr. Will Neddermeyer, formerly with Mr. T. Luchtenburg, of Columbus, Ohio, has accepted a position with Mr. L. C. Davis, the jeweler. Mr. Neddermeyer is an expert workman, and makes a specialty of designing and fine engraving.

Many of our local sportsmen are preparing to go antelope hunting. This is the last day upon which these much persecuted animals can be killed in the game law for protection, and from now until the first of January they will be indiscriminately slaughtered.

A private letter from Judge T. A. McMorris of the Ute commission has been received. He says that the Indians refused to go and that on the 24th of this month he was directed by the Indian commissioner to turn the removal of the Utes over to the military under the command of General McKenzie. General McKenzie peremptorily told them they must go and on the 26th the head chiefs sadly agreed to obey the orders. The removal was to begin on Sunday last and is, we presume, now under way. The Indians claimed that they had been good Indians and had a right to retain their old homes, but General McKenzie could not listen to their plea and gave them the alternative of war or peaceible removal. This probably settles the matter. The Indians are probably now being removed and there will be no war for the present.

It is indeed surprising what a large amount of mail matter is received at and sent from the Colorado Springs office. The receipts of the office for the past year will amount to over $20,000, thus entitling us under the rules of the post office department to a carrier system. There is not a single vacant box in the office at present, neither has there been for many months past. In order to supply the constant demand made for them it will be necessary to construct a large number more.

What can be the matter with the southern mails? We received at the GAZETTE yesterday eleven numbers of the Arizona Daily Gazette, published at Phoenix, Arizona. These papers all came in one mail and one issue was dated August 19th. The Durango and Las Vegas papers come in batches of three at a time.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Hyatt, of Conejos county, was in the city yesterday. He was the officer who captured the Allison gang some time ago. Mr. Hyatt, in company with Sheriff Joe Smith of the same county, recently took Allison and his two pals from Pueblo to the county jail at Conejos.

Mr. F. A. Nims, the landscape artist, started yesterday morning for the Gunnison country where he goes to take negatives of the larger towns and other important scenery. Mr. Nims is gathering together the finest collection of Colorado stereoscopic views ever placed on the market.

City Marshal Beall arrested in front of the GAZETTE office, on Monday, one of the men implicated in stealing from freight cars at the Pueblo depot. The marshal took him to Pueblo and turned him over to the authorities there.

Congressman Springer and family, who have been spending the summer here, left yesterday for the Grand Cañon. They will return to-day, and then go to California via Denver and the Union Pacific.
